

A friend in need is not always a friend indeed

Friendship is a special bond between two or more friends. In this group you can evolve your minds, laugh, be supportive, give some tips, etc. However your real friends are not always like you want them to be. They could be good with you if they need you or be with you just because you are cool or have some benefits from you and so on.

I believe that man knows his real friend when he or she desperately needs him or her. Despite the fact that ‘a friend in need is not always a friend indeed’ I think that you meet your best friend in the worst scenario you could imagine. Represent like you felt really deep in some dept. But there is not your best friend. There is nobody to rely on. What will you do?

Probably you will call your friend, but he or she would say that he or she does not have any time right now. Than you will realized that this ‘buddy’ is not really your friend indeed. There will be a person on which you could not imagine that will be here for you.

Anyway to know someone’s personality is usually needed a time, lots of time. It is not weird that you take slowly, step by step, because it is worth it.