

ANY JOB IS BETTER THAN NO JOB AT ALL

It seems as though that the human race is condemned to be constantly broke. Sure there are people who do not have financial problems but let us face it – they are almost the endangered species. After all it is almost impossible to meet a person that does not complain how they do not have any money.

Money makes the world go round. That is why people would do almost anything for money. There are jobs that can be difficult or immoral (I believe that being a prostitute is a very hard - embarrassing profession) but they usually pay up. They pay up in the material way but not the moral one. I am not a puritan but I believe that money cannot repair the emotional damage that a certain kind of work can bring you

No matter how low you fall, no matter how hard life has been on you, I think that a person should keep a certain amount of pride. I believe that one can always find a way to get a better job. Sure I do not think that being a tramp is something one should be proud of but it sure is better than being a professional murderer for example.

So I do not agree with the title of the essay. But then I can say that I am very lucky – I have the possibility to choose...
