

THE BEST THINGS IN LIFE ARE FREE

Many people argue that you cannot buy the best things in life. For example, happiness, friendship and many other things are free. However, if you have a lot of money, you may have a lot of friends, but you must be careful because they can use you and the money may be the real reason that they are your friends.

First of all, you cannot buy happiness and friendship. You must be honest, friendly, sincere person to make friends and keep them for a long time. In addition, love is the similar thing. To love and being loved are things which you cannot buy with all the money in the world.

On the other hand, it is true that you would have fewer worries if you had money. You should live in a big house, have fast car, good job and a lot of other material goods. As a result, it is not assured that you would be happier. At most, contrarily. Moreover, if you have a lot of money, you may not appreciate a little things, which are also important in life.

To sum up, the best things in life are free. It is up to you, if you will assure them.