

CATS

I like animals, specially cats. Therefor they are so cute, adorable and they are pleasant company.

Firstly cats are very social and sweet. They always bid me a warm welcome when I come home. That amuses me. That way I can forget about everyday stress and problems I am thinking about when I come from school. I live less stressful because they calm me down. When I have bed days and when I am desperate they cheer me up.

Secondly I have to comb them everyday and have to clean up the mess they made. Although I have a lot of work with them I am enjoying it.

To conclude it I like cats. Although I have to take care of them I am happy to have them because they make my life happier and less stressful.
