

GOOD EDUCATION BRINGS SUCCESS IN YOUR LIFE:

I agree that education is very important factor for our happiness since happiness is usually linked up with money. On the other hand, it is not necessary that our education brings success in our life.

Firstly without education we cannot get a good, well paid job. Furthermore we cannot even get a job. That is why it is important to be educated. Nowadays the higher education means better job, more success and more money. Since money is supposed to represent happiness in our life has education become a measure for success.

Although education is important for our success it is not the only way to reach it. For instance if we are full of new ideas, ambitious and inventive we can achieve success without any higher education. As there are only a few people who have reached success through that way I still rather rely on education.

I believe that education is playing a very important part in our life. Despite it is not necessarily the way to our success it is obligatory.
