

Feelings

Confused – when two people give you completely opposite advices and you can not decide

Disappointed – when you don't get exactly what you want

Glad – when something nice happen (like when your friend pass his driving test)

Grateful – when somebody help you a lot with some problem or project

Homesick – when you are abroad and miss your home and family

Lonely – when you don't have anyone to hang out with

Nervous – when you have to do something and you are scared of what could go wrong

Offended – when you feel like nobody wants to hang out with you (or you are not invited to smth.)

Relieved – when you lose something and then find it again (telephone, passport)

Shocked – when you are informed that your house was robbed

Fed up – bored and frustrated and unhappy (sick and tired)

Upset – unhappy and worried / anxious

Astonished – very surprised

Delighted – very pleased

Desperate – with a little hope, ready to do anything to improve the situation

Devastated - extremely upset and shocked

Exhausted – really tired (worn out)

Furious – very angry

Miserable – extremely unhappy

Stunned – very surprised and unable to react

Terrified – extremely scared (scared stiff)

Thrilled – very excited

Sad, depressed – down in the dumps

Over the moon – very happy